Chef Rachel Wiener

Culinary Offerings

There are many dining choices at The St. Regis Deer Valley. From the exquisite cuisine of J&G Grill to DIY s'mores at our fire pits, there's something to feed everyone's appetite! Call Concierge for details on all the dining options.

Chef de Cuisine

As Chef de Cuisine at Jean-Georges Vongerichten's J&G Grill, Chef Rachel Wiener oversees menu planning for the restaurant, award-winning wine dinners, and The St. Regis Bar. At every opportunity, Chef Rachel incorporates the principles of "slow food" and local "farm to table" cooking in her menus.

J&G Grill

At J&G Grill Park City, enjoy light fare developed by Jean-Georges Vongerichten in this modern mountain lounge. J&G Grill specializes in slow-cooked, farm-to-table fare that highlights seasonal ingredients, and is known for its extensive wine program, including the property's 13,000-bottle Wine Vault where the resort hosts intimate dinners that allow guests to interact with winemakers and winery owners.

"At the resort, we have incredible access to a variety of fresh ingredients that allow us to deliver award-winning dishes to our diners. Whether it's local Koosharem Trout, elk, or produce, we love providing our guests with innovative dishes that utilize the finest Utah has to offer." -Chef Rachel

St. Regis Bar

Come for the conversation, stay for the cocktails. Every St. Regis hotel creates its own signature Bloody Mary and The St. Regis Deer Valley is no exception. In a nod to the resort's altitude we offer the 7452 Mary, a blend of our famous Bloody Mary mix and local High West Distillery vodka served with a touch of black salt on the rim and finished with Wasabi-Celery foam. Also, paying homage to St. Regis tradition, the bar is graced with a commissioned mural - a triptych reflecting Park City's history as a silver mining town by artist Phillip Buller. Light fare created by Jean-Georges Culinary Concepts is available.*

Sunday Jazz Brunch

Beginning in July, join us on Sundays for a Jazz Brunch on our Mountain Terrace. Throughout the Jazz Age, The St. Regis New York played host to some of history's most beloved jazz greats and we're paying tribute to this rich musical legacy this summer. Join us for a buffet style brunch, bubbly cocktails, and local Jazz artists while you enjoy mountain views.

*A cocktail and limited food menu is also available at the pool.

St. Regis Deer Valley Signature Spices

In partnership with renowned Chef Lior Lev Sercarz of NYC, we are delighted to present our new St. Regis Deer Valley Signature Spices. Lior's spice blends reflect the essence of a place and a moment, and guests will be able to take home a piece of The St. Regis Deer Valley and the mountains with them.

Deer Valley

A sweet and subtly spicy blend of cocoa, honey, and pepper elevates desserts, cocktails, and creates a Deer Valley worthy cup of hot cocoa.

Great Salt Lake

Capturing the soft and gentle tastes of pink salt along with fennel and dried lavender, bringing subtle floral notes to fish, vegetables, and dressings.

Wasatch Sage

Sage thrives in mountain habitats and its strongly aromatic and slight bitterness paired with juniper and pepper creates a blend for game, poultry, and sauces.

The St. Regis spices will be available for purchase in the candy shop. Also, visit the schedule of events for special spice culinary adventures.

Family Traditions

The St. Regis Deer Valley has partnered with Park City's Kimball Art Center to provide families with new creative traditions. For more than 40 years, the Kimball Art Center has inspired and connected the Park City community through art. The nonprofit center provides art education, free exhibitions, and a variety of events to the public, including the annual Park City Kimball Arts Festival that attracts more than 50-thousand people to Park City's Historic Main Street.

The Kimball Art Center will be offering family art classes at the resort to explore both nature and art. Bring your children and your creative spirit and create a unique family keepsake.

Park City History

Even though Brigham Young and the Mormon settlers had passed near the north end of this valley in 1847 on their trek to Salt Lake City and Indian hunters roamed the area as early as 1600 A.D., Park City was not settled until the late 1860's after prospectors discovered silver here in October 1868. With the completion of the Transcontinental Railroad at Promontory, UT in 1869, many laid off railroad workers settled in Park City to seek their fortunes mining the rich silver ore as well as gold, lead, and zinc.

Some key dates in the history of Park City*:

1868 Silver is discovered.

1869 The Transcontinental Railroad is completed at Promontory, Utah. Laid-off workers, including many Chinese, settle in Parley's Park City (later shortened to Park City).

1870 Parley's Park City has a total population of 164.

1872 The discovery of exceedingly rich silver ore (400 ounces to the ton) leads to the opening of the Ontario Mine and starts a boom town atmosphere in Park City. George Hearst, the father of William Randolph Hearst, and partners buy the Ontario for $27,000. It will produce over $50 million in its lifetime.

Park City Museum

1875 A free public school is established.

1880 The first issue of The Park Record newspaper comes off the press. It has been published continuously from this date forth, expanding from one day each week to every Wednesday and Saturday.

1881 Park City is the third city in Utah to receive telephone service. The Catholic Church builds a frame church and names it St. Mary's.

1884 Park City is incorporated.

1889 The town's population is over 5,000. The city is one of the first in the state to have electric lights.

1894 The "Silver Queen", Susanna Bransford Emery, is making $1,000 a day from her interest in the Silver King Mine.

1896 Park City has a population over 7,000.

Trial by Fire

1898 Park City approaches a population of 10,000. In June, 200 of the 350 structures, homes and businesses burn in the worst fire Park City has ever seen. Three-quarters of the town is gone, 500 are homeless, $1 million in property is lost.

1899 The town is rebuilt in one and one-half years! Many new buildings are built of brick and stone to withstand fire. George Wanning's saloon is the first to be rebuilt.

1901 Silver King aerial tramway uses buckets to bring ore down to town, lowering transportation cost to 22-cents a-ton from $1.50 per ton when hauled with horses and wagons.

Park City Museum

1904 The Miners Hospital is built for the sum of $5,000 raised by local businessmen and the Western Federation of Miners Local #144. Six thousand miners are treated for “Miner’s Con,” or silicosis, in the first year.

1917 The prohibition of liquor called “the Great Experiment” begins in Utah, two years before the rest of the nation. Bootleggers abound; stills and home-brewing are popular.

1921 There are 27 bars in Park City and, despite prohibition, a thirsty soul could buy a drink in all but one of them. Prohibition continues through 1932.

1929 The stock market crashes. Silver King stock plummets from $12.87 to $6.50 in one year; Park Consolidated stock falls from $2 to 27 cents.

Skiing Starts with a Jump

1931 Alf Engen sets a world record at Ecker Hill, a ski jump built in 1928, by jumping 247 feet. In all, Engen sets five world records at Ecker Hill.

1936 The town’s first Winter Carnival is a success, with more than 500 skiers arriving in (what is now) Deer Valley on the ski train – a four-hour journey from Salt Lake City.

1947 The first lift goes in at Snow Park (now Deer Valley Resort). Mining prices drop lower.

1949 By July 1, all mines have shut down, putting 1,100 miners out of work throughout Wasatch, Summit, and Daggett counties.

1951 Park City is increasingly referred to as a “ghost town” throughout Utah and the American West. There are 1,150 “ghosts” (residents) in town at this time.

1952 Some mines re-open as mineral prices rise, but Park City’s population plummets and businesses close.

1955 The red light district is raided. By 1956, the days of the “giddy girls” are over and the last parlor has closed its doors.

Skiing Gives Town a Lift

1958 United Park City Mines looks to diversify and starts a feasibility study to begin the Treasure Mountain Resort (now Park City Mountain Resort).

1963 Park City qualifies for a federal loan from the Area Redevelopment Agency. The government gives $1.25 million for use in starting a ski area. A gondola, a chairlift and 2 J-bars are installed. A lift pass costs $3.50 and there are almost 50,000 skier days that first year.

1965 A mine train takes skiers into a Silver King Mine tunnel, then up a shaft to the top of the mountain, but the trip proves too slow to be very popular. As word of the new ski area spreads, people start moving to Park City. This train car is on display at the Park City Museum today.

1968 Park West Ski Area (now Canyons Village at Park City Mountain Resort) opens.

Art Hits Main Street

1970 First Park City Art Festival debuts on Main Street.

1976 Kimball Art Center, in the old Eley Garage at 638 Main St., opens its doors with two galleries, a gift shop and classrooms.

1980 KPCW, Summit County’s public radio, goes on the air.

1981 Deer Valley Resort opens at the site of the old Snow Park area (which closed in 1969).

1981 The United States Film and Video Festival (which has since become the Sundance Film Festival), highlighting independent films, opens in January for the first season in Park City.

1987 TV45, Park City's television station, begins broadcasting.

1990 The estimated population of year-round residents is 4,500. Skier days for all three ski areas are over 850,000.

1993 The Utah Winter Sports Park opens.

1995 Salt Lake City is awarded the 2002 Winter Olympic Games.

1997 Wolf Mountain, formerly Park West, is renamed The Canyons, and opens for its 28th season. Bear Hollow makes history with the Olympic bob and luge track opening at the Winter Sports Park.

2002 Park City hosts more than 40 percent of the events for the XIX Winter Olympic Games. Deer Valley hosts slalom, freestyle moguls, and aerials; Utah Olympic Park holds bobsleigh, luge, skeleton, nordic combined, and ski jumping events; Park City Mountain Resort hosts giant slalom, snowboard GS, and half pipe events.

2013 Park City is voted "Best Town in America" by Outside Magazine.
